Bramshill All Weather Strategy

The All Weather Strategy (formerly known as Matrix Income) is designed to be an alternative to traditional fixed income portfolios. The strategy invests in a diversified portfolio of high-yielding, exchange-traded, pass-through securities that are required to distribute virtually all of their current earnings to shareholders. This is complemented by a covered call, call spread, and opportunistic hedging strategy. The All Weather Strategy has also exhibited low correlation to fixed income markets making it both a potential source of yield and a portfolio diversifier.

Stocks, bonds and futures are not guaranteed. Investments in equity securities involve risks such as volatility and the potential for loss of principal. Bonds traditionally experience less volatility than stocks and typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. Futures are derivatives which can be volatile and involve various types and degrees of risk, and depending upon the characteristics of a particular derivative, suddenly become illiquid. The performance of various indices is shown for comparison purposes only. The performance of those indices was obtained from published sources believed to be reliable but which are not warranted as to accuracy or completeness. Unless noted otherwise, index returns do not reflect fees or transaction costs and reflect reinvestment of net dividends. One cannot invest directly in an index.

This material must be preceded or accompanied by a prospectus.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. The Fund invests in foreign investments and foreign currencies which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater for emerging markets. Investments in debt securities typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Investments in small - and medium-capitalization companies involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility. Investments in lower-rated and nonrated securities presents a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than higher rated securities. The Fund may make short sales of securities, which involves the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested. The Fund may invest in derivative securities, which derive their performance from the performance of an underlying asset, index, interest rate or currency exchange rate. Derivatives can be volatile and involve various types and degrees of risks, and, depending upon the characteristics of a particular derivative, suddenly can become illiquid. Derivative contracts ordinarily have leverage inherent in their terms which can magnify the Fund's potential for gains or losses through increased long and short position exposure. The Fund's portfolio will be significantly impacted by the performance of the real estate market generally, and the Fund may be exposed to greater risk and experience higher volatility than would a more economically diversified portfolio. Property values may fall due to increasing vacancies or declining rents resulting from economic, legal, cultural, or technological developments. Investments in Limited Partnerships (including master limited partnerships) involve risks different from those of investing in common stock including risks related to limited control and limited rights to vote on matters affecting the Limited Partnership, risks related to potential conflicts of interest between the Limited Partnership and the Limited Partnership's general partner, cash flow risks, dilution risks and risks related to the general partner's limited call right. Underlying Funds are subject to management and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by the Fund. There is no assurance that any hedging strategies utilized by the Fund will successfully provide a hedge to the portfolio's holdings which could negatively impact Fund performance.

Diversification does not assure a profit nor protect against loss in a declining market. Correlation measures how much the returns of two investments move together over time. Standard Deviation is the statistical measurement of dispersion about an average, which depicts how widely a portfolio's returns varied over a certain period of time. When a portfolio has a high standard deviation, the predicted range of performance is wide, implying greater volatility. Covered call is a transaction where an investor selling call options owns an equivalent amount of the underlying security. The investor's long position in the underlying security is the "cover" since the shares can be delivered if the call option is exercised. Call spread is an options trading strategy designed to benefit from a stock's limited increase in price by using two call options – selling a lower strike price and buying an upper strike price, which limits the gains or losses from the strategy. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results.
